

Sinclair Broadcasting's decision to have their stations air an anti-Kerry documentary days before the election is a clear example of freedom of speech.

If Michael Moore can show an anti-Bush movie in the months prior to the election, why can't Sinclair show an anti-Bush program.

Just as no one can force you to go to a theater to watch the movie, so too can you watch something other than what is on Sinclair.

It sounds that whining and sour grapes from the anti-Bush camp.

Thank you.
